

Takeiki's Taiwan partner main products are powder metal parts and components of stainless steel are widely used on the market of home appliances, automobiles, motorbikes, lock systems, medical equipment, power tools, industrial machines, robots, ships and vessels, road alignment equipment, optical equipment, and many more. Our customers include the markets in Asia, Europe, and America. They will continue to invest in extensive research and development in powder metallurgy so as to present the best quality products and services to the customers.

Main product :

- Powder metallurgy product
- sintered oil impregnation bearing
- sintered machinery components
- other sintered components please refer to the page of products

