

The chemistry for what's next starts now.

Greetings,

We are Chemours. While you've probably heard a bit about us in the last few months as we separated from DuPont, we would like for you to hear directly from our President and Chief Executive Officer, Mark Vergnano. We invite you to take just a moment of your day to watch this linked video in which Mark shares his thoughts about our commitment to you, our customers.

In short, we've got the heart of a startup and the deep experience and reliability of a 200-year-old powerhouse. You probably already know many of our products and brands, like Teflon®, Opteon®, Ti-Pure® and Virkon®. Now, we've refocused on chemistry—and only chemistry—in order to be more nimble, more responsive, and more customer-centered. We're here to help you thrive and profit. But it's best to hear it directly from the big boss.

We look forward to telling you more about The Chemours Company in the coming days. Meanwhile, we'll be busy putting Living Chemistry into action, making everyday things better and turning the ordinary into the extraordinary.

To new beginnings and new possibilities,

The Chemours leadership team

Connect With Us

Terms of Use | Privacy Policy

©2015 The Chemours Company. Chemours™ and the Chemours Logo are trademarks or registered trademarks of The Chemours Company